AI solutions for business in Kyrgyzstan

Everything meets at one point: website, design, AI avatar, bots and integrations are supports of one system.

Everything meets at one point

In a yurt, dozens of roof poles meet in the tunduk, the crown ring that holds the dome and lets the light in. We build a business’s digital presence the same way: the website, design, AI avatar, bots and integrations are not separate services but supports of one system. At its centre is a customer who always gets an answer, and numbers the owner can see.

Measurable

From buzzwords to numbers. Before the start we record the baseline, afterwards we show the change. The report needs no retelling.

Honest

Prices are open, in som and as starting prices; the exact amount comes after the brief. AI avatars and AI models are labelled, demo data is flagged as an example.

● Be found — Websites

Today a website has three readers: the customer, the search engine and the AI model

People look at the design, search engines at the structure, AI models at facts and markup. Most sites only get the first one right. We design for all three at once, and a built-in consultant answers visitors around the clock and passes requests to your CRM.

● Be recognised — Design and branding

Style is how people recognise you before they read your name

We build the logo, corporate identity, brandbook and interfaces from the character of the business. Tone, content columns and visuals form one system, not a set of pretty pictures.

● Be heard — AI avatars and video

Your expert speaks every day, with no filming

A video clone of the CEO, an AI blogger built from scratch or an avatar consultant on your website. The same voice and manner in Russian, Kyrgyz, English and other languages, with translation checked by a native speaker. We handle not only the technology but also scripts and promotion.

● Answer — AI agents and chatbots

A sales manager who never sleeps and never forgets the CRM

While you are in a meeting, the bot has already replied: it clarified the service, time and budget, booked the slot and passed the request to your CRM. A complex question goes straight to a manager with a summary of the chat. Decisions with consequences stay with people.

● Lose nothing — Integrations

A request should not get lost between WhatsApp, a spreadsheet and the CRM

We connect your website, messengers, CRM, 1C and online payments into one chain: a customer writes and the manager sees it, a payment goes through and the order is in progress. The data stays yours and gets counted.

● Grow — AI for business

A company where AI works in every department

We start with an audit: where the company loses time and money. A pilot on one process, a before-and-after metric, then scale: agents for every team and shared rules.
