

Everything meets at one point

In a yurt, dozens of roof poles meet in the tunduk, the crown ring that holds the dome and lets the light in. We build a business's digital presence the same way: the website, design, AI avatar, bots and integrations are not separate services but supports of one system. At its centre is a customer who always gets an answer, and numbers the owner can see.

Measurable

From buzzwords to numbers. Before the start we record the baseline, afterwards we show the change. The report needs no retelling.

Honest

Prices are open, in som and as starting prices; the exact amount comes after the brief. AI avatars and AI models are labelled, demo data is flagged as an example.
